How a child's brain works and how it is impacted by poverty

The first 1000 days are the most important for the development of the human brain. A child gets to know the world and gains a feeling of security and certainty that someone is here for him. However, poverty causes the so-called toxic stress that harms brain development. The child sensitively perceives the shortage/need in the family, hunger, cold, crying and tension between adults. Therefore, omamas teach mothers how to bring these children the stimuli that their poverty robs them of.

While we see mom massaging her baby, hundreds of thousands of neuronal connections are forming in the child's brain at this time. Individual parts of the body are stimulated, the child begins to realize them and use them in time. At the same time, it is pleasant for him, he forms a secure relationship with his mother, which is the basis for his lifelong self-confidence.

With enough repetition, these neuronal connections coarse and gradually create highways that facilitate the subsequent learning of other skills.

● Cesta von mission

The mission of the Cesta von organization is to help people trapped in generational poverty to become self-sufficient, find employment and a live a decent life.

● Vision of the Omama project

Every child born into poverty will have a chance to build a better foundation in the early years on which he or she can build a succesful life later on.

How does the Omama Program work

Lesson with a child aged 0 - 3 years

Omama meets with each child and a parent (usually the mother) once a week for an hour. The lesson has a pre-defined structure. The first half is dedicated to omama's activities with the child. The activities gradually build on each other with the goal of developing the child's attention, fine and gross motor skills, cognitive skills and language. Omama tries to actively engage the mother in the lesson. The second part of the lesson is a conversation with the mother dealing with various challenges which the parents face. The goal of the lessons is to empower the parents to be able to develop their children as much as possible during the rest of the week in their homes.

Lesson with children aged 4 - 6 years

One of our goals is that all children who reach the age of 4 start attending the local kindergarten. If – for whatever reason – this does not work out, the children stay in our program and omamas continue working with them. The lessons are adjusted accordingly. Children meet with the omama once a week for two hours in groups of three to four. They attend the lessons without their parents, to help them adapt to coordinated socializing and to prepare them for pre-school. They do a lot of drawing, cutting, creative activities, they sing and dance, so in addition to fine motor skills and vocabulary they also develop their concentration, patience and team work.

TOP 10 activities during lessons

PLAY WISELY® CARDS – the use of cards helps the child develop focus and hand eye coordination, tracking of movement, concentration, astuteness, observation skills, spatial orientation, sensory coordination, information processing.

COLOURFUL TOWER – placing the wooden rings on a post helps the child learn colours, sizes, shapes and order.

TOY STORY – while playing and identifying with the toys, the child develops creativity, emotional and social skills.

KICK THE BALL – kicking a ball develops gross motor skills and body coordination.

CUDDLING AND EXPRESSING EMOTIONS – while cuddling with the parent, the child strengthens the emotional bond and later learns to distinguish and articulate a variety of emotions.

CIRCLE OF EMOTIONS – together with the child, we draw papers with names of different emotions and express these emotions, so that the child learns how to distinguish, understand and control them.

MASSAGE – the omama teaches the mother how to give a massage to the child, to strengthen a secure attachment.

NAMING OF OBJECTS – the child names objects nearby or in a book, thereby developing his or her own vocabulary.

CRAWLING THROUGH A TUNNEL – crawling on all fours positively affects the connection between hemispheres, gross motor skills and development of muscle strength for correct body posture.

PLAYING WITH BEADS – threading beads on a string or moving them from one place to another with tweezers develops fine motor skills and contributes to better logical thinking in the future.

Our results

We employed 10 omamas in 7 locations.

Omamas have already supported a healthy development of 190 children in total, and completed 4 500 lessons in a year.

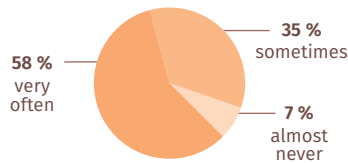

The number of children aged 0-3 years:

116

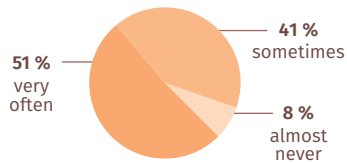

The number of children aged 4-6 years:

Omamas helped to develop parenting skills.

How much were parents engaged during lessons.

How much parents praised their child during lessons.

How much time parents spent during a week on enhancing the development of their child outside of the lessons with the omama.

Thanks to the omama, 6 more children from the Roma settlement attended kindergarden in Muránska Dlhá Lúka compared to the previous year.

Once per month each omama organized a parents' club.

{Σ}

We started measuring neurological development of 2-year old children in partnership with the Oxford University.

Results of the testing will help us evaluate the impact of the Omama Program on children from excluded communities. It will indicate if – and to what extent – there is a difference between children who grow up in a “different stimuli” environment and children from the middle class.

They said/wrote/sang about us

The President of the Slovak Republic Andrej Kiska, 19. 3. 2019:

Today in Brussels, I was awarded the European Prize for Roma Engagement. I greatly appreciate this, as I believe that challenging topics should be tackled head on. We should not cover our eyes and expect the problems to solve themselves. At the same time, I think this award will be more helpful for the people who really need it. I decided to donate the whole amount to the organization Cesta von which helps children escape the vicious cycle of poverty.

The President of the Slovak Republic Zuzana Čaputová, 15. 9. 2019:

When I travel around the country, I am interested in particular solutions that help families and children escape poverty. While visiting Zborov, I watched with admiration a lesson of the Omama program, which supports the development and education of the youngest Roma children from birth and is based on cooperation with mothers. I will advocate for the adoption of the valuable experience and working models of the Omama program and other similar initiatives into state policies and systematic solutions.

FÍHA tralala (famous singer for children) – post about her new song dedicated to our organization and our work, 24. 10. 2019:

I ask you to accept this piece of work with kindness and sensitivity, and with respect to all the children born into generational poverty. Our goal is to soften the skewed perception of children not lucky enough to be born into an environment which would give them a better start in life. Where one mother is not enough, an excellent initiative of Cesta von/Way out comes to help.

The refrain of the song: “Where there is no way back, there is only way out, everybody desires to know the world and find love in it”.

The Public Defender of Rights Mária Patakyová, 10. 12. 2019:

Cesta von actively helps people entrenched in generational poverty. Their innovative approach in the Omama project not only contributes to better education of children, it also strengthens the parent-child bond and mutual respect. Omamas, who are the program’s emissaries to improve development of children at an early age, also come from the local settlements. This is instrumental in building trust between families with children and their mentors. Their impact is extraordinary, since early age development is fundamental for anyone’s future success.

Former Slovak Government Plenipotentiary for Roma Communities Ábel Ravasz, 7. 10. 2019:

I am counting on the idea that in the future, we can expand the Omama program to the whole of Slovakia.

Juraj Čokyna, author of book "And where are the page margins?", 4. 11. 2019:

Juraj Čokyna, a journalist and teacher, who taught children from the Roma settlement in Šarišské Bohdanovce for 2 years within Teach for Slovakia program, wrote a book "And where are the page margins?". His book may help not only teachers working at schools in excluded communities, but everyone who would like to understand the biggest social challenge in Slovakia. He recommends the Omama program several times in his book.

The Omama program receives public support from the Value for Money state analysts

Our long-term vision is that each child born into generational poverty can get support and develop in a healthy way from an early age. In March 2020, analysts from the state program “Value for Money” published an extensive report with policy recommendations. The report is entitled “Review of expenditures on groups endangered by poverty or social exclusion.” It aims to promote adoption of good decisions in public interest. The Omama program has been included among its recommendations.

In addition to a detailed description of our program, the report states: “Even though the newly instituted paediatric evaluation of psychomotor development in the first three years of life has the potential to identify at-risk children from a socially disadvantaged background, neither the Ministry of Labour nor the Ministry of Education currently provide a formalized early age intervention care for these children. The goal of the tailor-made programs for this age group is to alleviate the impact of poverty on physical, socio-emotional and cognitive development of children in the first years of life (0 – 3 years). The programs most often focus on the provision of educational and awareness-building activities in the fields of early childhood development and health. They strive to enable parents to support child development in the home environment so that the children maximize the use of their own potential and so reduce the risk of social exclusion.

From the perspective of geographic poverty concentration, its inter-generational reproduction and poor outcomes of children in education and health, this type of care is most needed in the environment of marginalized Roma communities (MRC). In Slovakia, there are approximately 7 535 children aged 0 – 3 living in this kind of environment. Since 2018, this type of care in the MRC setting in Slovakia is provided on a small sample of households by the Cesta von/Way out NGO.

The report proposes to support the provision of early age care (0 – 3 years) for children living in the environment of marginalized Roma communities. Based on the economic estimates, these investments should provide a 1.2-fold up to 17-fold return, after deducting the initial investment (Lynn A. Karolly et al., 2005). Moreover, there is an added value of increased economic self-sufficiency of women who would actively participate in the programs, as well as gradual decrease in the need for early care as a result of increased parenting skills in the community. If the program proves its value, it’s possible to consider extending it to all children born into the socially disadvantaged environment”.
